- (b) the person who is believed to be in possession of the property;
- (c) the grounds for the belief that an order of forfeiture be made under this Act; and
- (d) the description of the property.

(3) If satisfied that there are reasonable grounds to believe that there exists any property in respect of which an order of forfeiture may be made under this Act, the judge may make an order -

- (a) prohibiting any person from disposing of, or otherwise dealing with property specified in the order otherwise than in such manner as may be specified in the order; and
- (b) at the request of the competent authority, and where the judge is of the opinion that the circumstances so require, appoint a person to take control of or to manage or otherwise deal with property.

(4) Subject to subsection (4) and (5), the judge in making an order under subsection (3) may give directions as to the disposal of that property for the purpose of -

- (a) determining any dispute as to the ownership of the property or any part thereof;
- (b) its proper administration during the period of freezing;
- (c) the payment of money to that person for the reasonable subsistence of that person and his family; and
- (d) permitting the use of the property in order to enter into a recognisance required of that person by a court.

(5) Before making an order under subsection (3), the judge may require the competent authority to give such undertakings as the judge considers appropriate with respect to the payment of damages or costs, or both, in relation to the making and execution of the order.

(6) The order shall provide for notice to be given to persons affected by the order in such manner as the judge directs or as may be prescribed by rules of court.

(7) An order made under the provisions of this section shall cease to have effect at the end of the period of forty-eight hours if the person against whom such order was made has not been charged with a money laundering offence within that time.

Forfeiture of property, proceeds or instruments

(5) For purposes of this Act, the court may infer that property was obtained or derived as a result of the commission of a money laundering offence where evidence established that the value, after the commission of that offence, of all the property of the person alleged to have committed the offence exceeds the value of all the property of that person before the commission of that offence and the court is satisfied that the income of that person from his legitimate sources as disclosed by him to the court pursuant to subsection (6) cannot reasonably account for such an increase in value.

(6) A person convicted or absolutely or conditionally discharged of a money laundering offence may be summoned to appear before the court at the instance of the competent authority and to give information as to his legitimate sources of income.

Rights of bona fide third parties

20. (1) The measures and sanctions referred to in sections 18 and 19 shall apply without prejudice to the rights of bona fide third parties.

(3) A third party's lack of good faith may be inferred, at the discretion of the court or other competent authority, from the circumstances of the case.

(4) The court or competent authority shall return the property, proceeds or instruments to the claimant, when it has been proven that -

- (a) the claimant has a legitimate legal interest in the property, proceeds or instruments;
- (b) no participation, collusion or involvement with respect to money laundering offence which is the subject of the proceedings can be imputed to the claimant;
- (c) the claimant lacked knowledge and was not intentionally ignorant of the illegal use of the property, proceeds or instruments or if he had knowledge, did not freely consent to its illegal use;
- (d) the claimant did not acquire any right in the property, proceeds or instruments from a person proceeded against under circumstances that give rise to a reasonable inference that any right was transferred for the purpose of avoiding the subsequent forfeiture of the property, proceeds or instruments and;

- (e) the claimant did all that could reasonably be expected to prevent the illegal use of the property, proceeds or instruments.

Limitations on freezing or forfeiture of property

21. The provisions of sections 18 and 19 shall only apply to property coming into the possession or under the control of a person after the coming into force of this Act.

(2) The court or other competent authority may receive a request from the court or other competent authority of another State to identify, trace, freeze, seize or forfeit the property, proceeds, or instruments connected to money laundering, and may take appropriate action.

(3) A final judicial order of judgment that provides for the forfeiture of property, proceeds or instruments connected to money laundering, issued by a court or other competent authority of another State, may be recognised as evidence that the property, proceeds or instruments referred to by such order or judgement may be subject to forfeiture in accordance with the law.

(4) The court or other competent authority may receive and take appropriate measures with respect to a request from a court or other competent authority from another State, for assistance related to a civil, criminal, or administrative investigation, prosecution or proceedings, as the case may be, involving money laundering offences, or violation of this Act.

(5) Any provisions referring to bank secrecy or confidentiality shall not be an impediment to compliance with this section, when the information is requested by or shared with the court or other competent authority.
