- (d) delegate in writing to any office holder any powers which the Secretary to the Treasury is authorised to exercise under paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) setting out in each case the limits up to which such powers may be exercised; and
- (b) cause details of write offs and abandonments effected under paragraph (a) to be published in the annual financial report and Gazette.

PART IV

FINANCIAL MISCONDUCT

49. (1) A controlling officer or controlling body to whom power or duty is assigned, commits an act of financial misconduct if that controlling officer or controlling body wilfully or negligently makes or permits an unauthorised, irregular or wasteful expenditure or misapplication of funds or by an act or omission, causes the theft of public funds, public stores or public property.

Financial misconduct by controlling officers, committees and office holders

(2) A member of a controlling body or controlling body is individually and severally liable for any financial misconduct of the controlling body.

(3) The Secretary to the Treasury may where a controlling officer or controlling body has committed an act of financial misconduct—

- (a) require that a controlling officer, Committee or controlling body to make additional reporting to the Treasury on management and control of public monies under that controlling officer's Committee's or controlling body's charge;
- (b) require a controlling officer or controlling body to avail a financial management improvement plan to the Treasury for approval; and
- (c) impose restrictions over certain categories of expenditure.

(4) Where a controlling officer or a member of a controlling body, is found guilty of financial misconduct, the Secretary to the Treasury may revoke the appointment as controlling officer or a member of the controlling body and recommend to the Secretary to Cabinet or an appropriate executive authority any of the following:

- (a) suspension;

- (b) dismissal; and
- (c) prosecution.
- (5) Subject to the other provisions of this Act, a contravention of this Act by a—
- Cap. 16 (a) Member of Parliament or Minister constitutes misconduct for the purposes of the Ministerial and Parliamentary Code of Conduct Act; and
- Act No 13 of 1999 (b) Judge or Judicial officer constitutes misconduct for the purposes of the Judicial Code of Conduct Act.
- Disciplinary proceedings 50. (1) A charge of financial misconduct against an office holder, a controlling officer, a member of a controlling body, shall be investigated, heard and determined in terms of the statutory or other conditions of appointment or employment applicable to that office holder, controlling officer, or member of a controlling body.
- (2) The disciplinary proceedings undertaken under subsection (1) shall not affect the right to institute criminal procedure.
- Surcharge for failure by controlling officer or controlling body to perform 51. (1) Subject to the other provisions of this Part, the Secretary to the Treasury shall where a controlling officer or controlling body or an office holder fails to perform any financial duties assigned under this Act and such failure results in loss of public assets, monies or stores—
- (a) impose on that controlling officer or any other office holder a surcharge equivalent to the loss, wasteful expenditure incurred by Government; and
- (b) recommend to the Executive authority of the controlling body disciplinary action to be taken against the defaulting controlling officer which may include—
- (i) an appropriate surcharge;
- (ii) revocation of the appointment of the controlling officer; or
- (iii) such other disciplinary action as may be decided by the appropriate disciplinary authority.
- (2) The Secretary to the Treasury may, in addition to the disciplinary action under subsection (1), where there is a controlling body, recommend to the responsible minister to dissolve the controlling body or revoke the appointment of the controlling body.
- Surcharge for failure by office holder to perform duty assigned 52. (1) Subject to the other provisions of this Part, the Secretary to the Treasury shall where an office holder fails to perform a duty assigned under this Act and the officer is found to have committed financial misconduct—

- (a) suspend or impose on that office holder a surcharge equivalent to the loss or wasteful or irregular expenditure incurred by Government; and
- (b) recommend to the relevant Service Commission, appropriate action to be taken which may include—
  - (i) demotion;
  - (ii) termination of employment; and
  - (iii) any other penalty as prescribed under any relevant regulation.

(2) An office holder is financially liable to the Government who, through any act of wilful default or gross neglect of duty—

- (a) whenever it is that office holder's duty to collect any monies due and owing to the Government, fails to collect the same and by reason of such failure the monies cannot be collected;
- (b) makes, causes or permits any improper payment of public monies, or any payment of the public monies which is not duly authorised or for which no funds have been provided;
- (c) causes or permits a loss or deficiency in respect of any public monies under that office holder's control and for which that office holder is bound to account;
- (d) causes or permits any damage to, or destruction or loss of any public stores;
- (e) causes or permits any personal injury or damage to property in circumstances which give rise to liability of the Republic to third persons in respect of that injury or damage;
- (f) causes or permits damage to or loss of any Government building, or any fixtures, fitting or furniture therein; or
- (g) makes negligent decisions which result in loss of public monies or property.

(3) An office holder referred to in subsection (2) is liable to Government in an amount that may be determined by the Secretary to the Treasury and, subject to the provisions of this section, any liability so determined may be recovered at the suit of the Attorney-General in that behalf.

(4) The Secretary to the Treasury may, where the Secretary to the Treasury establishes that a loss has been suffered by the Government because of any act or wilful default or gross neglect of duty of any office holder, under subsection (2), assess, as attributable to that act, an amount, being not greater than the actual loss suffered, and shall forward to the office holder, a notice in writing, of the assessment of claim and of the amount thereof.

(5) An office holder may within twentyone days after receipt by the office holder from the Secretary to the Treasury of a notice of assessment of claim under subsection (3), make representations to the Secretary to the Treasury, in writing, with respect to—

- (a) the office holder's liability under subsection (2); or
- (b) the amount assessed under subsection (3) attributable to the office holder's act of wilful default or gross neglect of duty.

(6) The Secretary to the Treasury shall give due consideration to any representation so made by the office holder.

(7) The Secretary to the Treasury may determine the amount of the liability of the officer and the amount assessed under subsection (3), or, if the Secretary to the Treasury considers just, at a lesser amount, and shall make demand in writing upon the office holder for payment of the amount so determined where—

- (a) after the expiration of twentyone days from the date upon which notice of assessment of claim was forwarded to the office holder, in accordance with subsection (4), the Secretary to the Treasury receives no representation from the office holder in accordance with subsection (5); or
- (b) after giving due consideration to any representation made by the office holder under subsection (5), the Secretary to the Treasury is of the opinion that the office holder should be held liable to the Government as stated in the notice of assessment of claim.

(8) Where, after giving due consideration to the representations made by the office holder under subsection (5), the Secretary to the Treasury establishes that the office holder did not commit any act of wilful default or gross neglect of duty in respect of the matters grounding the assessment of claim made under subsection (4), the Secretary to the Treasury shall cancel the assessment of claim and notify the office holder, in writing, of the cancellation.

(9) Subject to subsection (2), upon receipt of the demand for payment referred to in subsection (7), the office holder may, in writing—

- (a) admit liability in the sum stated in the demand for payment for the recovery of the admitted or agreed sum by equal monthly instalments by way of deduction from the salary or pension of the office holder in a stated monthly sum, to be fixed by the Secretary to the Treasury, not exceeding one fourth of the monthly salary or pension, as the case may be, of the office holder; or
- (b) deny liability in the sum stated in the demand for payment.

(10) Where an office holder has admitted liability in any admitted or agreed sum and consented to the recovery of that sum and the office holder's employment by the Republic is terminated, whether by resignation, dismissal, death or otherwise, before the entire sum admitted or agreed has been fully recovered the admission of liability shall be deemed to be, and shall have effect as a consent to judgement in favour of the Republic in the amount of any outstanding balance of the admitted or agreed sum remaining unpaid at the date of the termination of the office holders employment, and that consent to judgement shall be effective in any proceedings brought in respect of the liability against the office holder or the office holder's legal representatives, as the case may be.

(11) Where, after the expiration of ten days after receipt of demand for payment from the Secretary to the Treasury, the office holder has failed to admit liability, the Attorney-General may institute proceedings for the recovery of the amount so demanded.

(12) Anything done under this section is without prejudice to the exercise of disciplinary action over the office holder by any lawful authority in respect of any act of wilful default or gross neglect of duty.

53. (1) In any action brought for the recovery from any office holder of any liability to the Government under section 52, the court may, at any time after the action is brought, grant, on the ex-parte application of the Attorney General, an interim order of surcharge in accordance with to subsections (2) and (3).

Interim order of surcharge

(2) An application for an interim order of surcharge under to subsection (1) shall be based on the affidavit of the Secretary to the Treasury setting out—

- (a) the facts upon which the claim is founded and exhibiting copies of the notice of assessment of claim and demand for payment, issued and forwarded to the office holder under section 52; and
- (b) the official status of the office holder, the office holder's length of service, the office holder's monthly salary, and how long the office holder was employed in the position the office holder held at the time when the alleged loss, incorrect payment, deficiency or damage occurred.

(3) An interim order of surcharge made in this section shall empower the Secretary to the Treasury to cause to be deducted from the salary of an office holder a stated sum each month, not exceeding one-fourth of the monthly salary of the office holder, and, pending the final determination of the action, to apply the deducted sums towards the liquidation of the amount claimed.

(4) If any action, in which an interim order of surcharge was obtained in accordance to this section, is discontinued, or is dismissed by the court, the interim order shall, on the filing of the notice of discontinuance, or on the judgement of dismissal becoming final, as the case may be, cease to have or effect, and the Secretary to the Treasury shall, within twenty one days thereafter, cause such sums as had been deducted from the monthly salary of the office holder on the authority of the interim order to be refunded to that office holder in full.

(5) Where in any action, in which an interim order of surcharge was obtained under this section and judgement is decreed in the amount claimed, or in any lesser amount, and costs, the court may, on the application of the Attorney-General, make an order of surcharge in respect of the balance due on the judgement after deducting from the judgement all sums up to the time of the judgement deducted from the monthly salary of the office holder under the interim order.

(6) An order of surcharge made under this subsection shall be in such terms as the court may consider fit and shall empower the Secretary to the Treasury to deduct from the salary of the judgement debtor a stated sum each month, not exceeding onequarter of the monthly salary of the judgement debtor, until all sums outstanding on the authority of the judgement and costs have been paid in full.

(7) If in any action judgement is decreed in an amount which together with any costs allowed is less than the total sum deducted under an interim order of surcharge made under this section, the Secretary to the Treasury shall, within twenty-one days after such judgement becomes final, cause to be refunded to the judgement debtor any sum deducted in excess of the amount of the judgement and costs.

(8) Where a final order for surcharge made under this section is in force in respect of an office holder, and the employment of the office holder by the Republic is terminated, whether by resignation, dismissal, death or otherwise, the Secretary to the Treasury may, against any monies payable to the office holder by the Government, set off any balance remaining unpaid on the authority of the judgement in respect of which the surcharge order was made.

(9) A judgement decreed under this section shall be without prejudice to the exercise of disciplinary action over such office holder by any lawful authority in respect of the act, wilful default or gross neglect of duty giving rise to the action in which such judgement was decreed.

54. (1) Where an office holder steals or converts to that office holder's own use any public funds or any public stores and an action is brought against that office holder at the suit of the Attorney-General for the recovery of such monies, property or stores or for damages for their loss, the Attorney-General may apply ex-parte to the court, either at the time of the institution of the action, or at any time thereafter until final judgement, for an order directing that a property belonging to the office holder shall be attached until the further order of the court, and such order of attachment shall be executed according to its tenor.

of office
holder as security

(2) Where the property sought to be attached under subsection (1) is —

- (a) land, or an interest in land, the application shall contain a description of the land sufficient to identify the same for the purposes of registration of the order directing the attachment in the Lands registry together with a statement of the interest of the office holder therein required to be attached;
- (b) movable personal property, the application shall contain a description of the property required to be attached, the estimated value thereof so far as can reasonably be ascertained, and the place where the property may be found;
- (c) a bank or other financial institutions account, the application shall contain the name of the bank or other financial institutions and the address of the office or branch thereof at which the account is believed to be kept and, a statement of any reason why such account is believed to be the property of the office holder;
- (d) an account in any other financial institution, the application shall contain the name under which such account is kept, and if the account is not in the name of the office holder, the name in which it is kept and a statement of any reason why such account is believed to be the property of the office holder;
- (e) a debt owing to the office holder, the application shall contain the name and address of the debtor; and
- (f) shares in a company, the application shall contain the name of the company and the address of its registered Office.

(3) The Court may, in any order directing the attachment of property, direct the attachment of the whole of the property specified under subsection (2) or such portion of the property as the court considers sufficient to satisfy any judgement which may be passed in the action.

Cap. 185 (4) Where the property directed to be attached under this section is land or an interest in land, attachment shall be effected by lodging a certified copy of the order directing the attachment in the Registry of Lands and Deeds, for entry in the register, and any such attachment so effected shall be in the nature of a caveat by the Attorney-General in respect of the land attached, and the provisions of Part VI of the Lands and Deeds Registry Act shall apply to that attachment with necessary modification.

Cap. 185 (5) Where the action brought is one for the return of specific goods claimed to be public stores unlawfully detained by an office holder, the order made in accordance with subsection (1) may provide that the goods, upon being attached in accordance with the court order, be delivered to the Government to be retained by the Government until the further order of the court.

(6) A delivery shall not be ordered in accordance with this subsection unless the Attorney-General gives an undertaking on behalf of the Government that the goods shall be returned to the office holder in the event of the dismissal of the action.

(7) Attachments made under this section shall not affect the rights in the attached property of persons who are not parties to the action, and in the event of any claim being preferred to the attached property, the claim shall be investigated in the manner prescribed for the investigation of claims to property attached in execution of a judgement of the court.

(8) In cases of attachment under this section, the court shall, at any time, remove or discharge the order upon the office holder furnishing sufficient security to satisfy any judgement which may be ordered against the office holder in the action together with security for the costs of the attachment.

(9) Where in any action in which property is attached in accordance with subsection (1), final judgement is decreed—

(a) in favour of the office holder, the court shall remove the attachment, and order, where necessary, the restoration of the property to the office holder; or

(b) in favour of the Attorney-General, the court shall issue execution against the attached property to the extent of the judgement and costs, and upon execution being effected, the attachment shall cease to have any further effect.

(10) The Attorney-General may at any time, in the prescribed form consent to the removal from attachment, of the whole or any part of any property so attached, and such consent shall have effect according to its tenor.

(11) Where the order directing attachment has been registered in respect of any lands under subsection (4) any consent to the removal of the attachment under subsection (9) in respect of such land or any part of the land shall be registered and shall have effect as a withdrawal of the attachment of the lands, to the extent of the consent.

(12) The provisions of any Act or rule of law suspending any civil remedy in respect of the subject matter of any criminal proceedings pending the determination of those proceedings shall not apply so as to limit or suspend the obtaining of any order or attachment under this section.
