(6) Any police officer of or above the rank of Superintendent may, without warrant, arrest any person in respect of whom he has reason to believe that there are grounds which would justify his detention under this regulation, and may order that such person be detained for a period not exceeding fourteen days pending a decision whether a detention order should be made against him, and the provisions of sub-regulation (5) shall apply in respect of his detention during such period:

Provided that a person arrested under this sub-regulation shall be released where, before a decision is reached as to whether or not a detention order should be made against him, the police officer who arrested him finds, on further inquiry, that there are no grounds which would justify his detention under this regulation.
